Virtue for April: Preservation

The Canopy

If the Imagination Theatre Reopens,

We focus our attention this month on nature with The Canopy showing on the Imagination Theatre stage. The Anew children will see it on April 15th at 10:30. The story was written by Ashley Jennings, the songs were written by Mary Jennings and the music was performed by Stokley Williams.

The story teaches the children about taking care of our planet Earth. A little boy named Benoni leaves his home due to the water rising on his island. He climbs up into the treetop canopy and meets a tree kangaroo and her joey. They are joined by two whistling tree frogs, a leaf katydid, a sassy tree python and a beautiful bird of paradise. Together they interweave stories and fantastic musical sounds while searching for an enchanted flute in the glow worm cave of dreams and memories.

The Week of the Young Child

April 13th– April 17th
Each day of this week we will have a special event or activity for the children.

Monday- I am Special Day

Tuesday -Art Show

Wednesday- Imagination Theatre: Canopy

Thursday– Playground Art and Parade Day

Friday– Special Snack Day

The future Vincent Van Gough or Frida Kahlo will be proudly displaying his/her artwork in the gallery we call the halls. Some art exhibits will be selected for the permanent collection from the Art Show.

We are very fortunate to care for our young children during this special time in their lives. Despite the troubles in the world, we will celebrate!

Covid-19

Three cheers to all the Anew Dimension Staff, children and families who are making it through this most difficult of times.

We are thankful for:

1. The healthy staff who come to work ready to provide great care and learning for children and clean, clean, clean, clean.
2. The essential worker families who continue to bring their children.
3. We are thankful to the parents who offer special support and make a gift of supplies and treats to staff.
4. We are thankful to the families who continue to pay their fees despite staying home so we can stay in business and pay our staff.
5. We are thankful to our State government who are listening to scientists and making good decisions.

We look forward to the day when all the children return and we can be a full, caring, happy community once again.
